

Updated United States Domestic Rates, 1999 - 2014©

Henry W. Beecher and Anthony S. Wawrukiewicz

Introduction

This PDF file represents an updating of domestic rates found in U.S. Domestic Postal Rates, 1872-1999, 2nd. Ed. All these data from 1996 to 2014 have been carefully double-checked, and so errors are very unlikely. Where no added space was taken by doing this, some older rates are also included (e.g., see Table 1: First-Class Letter). Also included are one or two tables from the interim period 1995-99 which were inadvertently excluded from the above book. This material is copyrighted but may be downloaded free of charge. Those who do not have the earlier domestic and/or international books can order them from the American Philatelic Society. Complete up to date errata are available in an appendix in my latest book Insights into U.S. Postal History, 1855 - 2016.

May 12, 2008

With the rate changes of May 12, 2008, the United States Postal Service (USPS) continues the new (as of May 14, 2007) complex rate structure based on shape. In fact this structure is now extended to international mail (see the separate international rate update PDF). I'm afraid that rate changes will be with us yearly for the foreseeable future. More and more discounted rates are available to commercial businesses (now called commercial rates), including priority mail and parcel post mail. As in the past, I show these for first- and third-class mail because examples of these are commonly found in the mails (franked with meters). Until someone can show me a rated example of other 'commercial rates' mail for other classes, I will not show these rates in these updated rates. Bound Printed Matter rates.

January 14, 2009

The USPS introduced only a few rate changes as of this date. These limited changes were for Priority Mail and Express Mail.

May 11, 2009

These rate changes were limited to all services not changed on January 14, 2009 and all fees.

January 4, 2010

The USPS introduced only a few rate changes as of this date. These limited changes were for Priority Mail and Express Mail.

January 2, 2011

The USPS introduced only a few rate changes as of this date. These limited changes were for Priority Mail and Express Mail.

April 17, 2011

These rate changes were limited to all services not changed on January 14, 2009 and all fees.

January 22, 2012

These rate and fee changes were found on-line at the USPS web site in Excel files on January 4, 2012. All domestic rates and fees changed at this time.

January 27, 2013

These rate and fee changes were found on-line at the USPS web site in Excel files on January 2013. All domestic rates and fees changed at this time. I also used Notice 123 that listed most of the new rates and fees.

January 26, 2014

These rate and fee changes were found on-line at the USPS web site on January 26, 2014 in Notice 123 that listed most of the new rates and fees. New this year is a whole new zone for Priority Mail, Express Mail and Parcel Post, called Zone 9. Zone 9 includes the destinations listed in DMM 608.2.2 (Republic of Palau, Federated States of Micronesia, and Republic of the Marshall Islands). In addition, Express Mail is now called Priority Mail Express. Parcel Post renamed Standard Post, Parcels. USPS Delivery Confirmation now called USPS Tracking. As far as I can tell, there no longer are C.O.D. Associated Fees.

May 14, 2007

With the rate changes of May 14, 2007, the United States Postal Service (USPS) announced a major change in how rates were determined on first-class matter. From that date new shape-based prices for this type of mail were introduced. The new price structure recognizes that each first-class item of different shape, either letter, flat or parcel (interchangeably called package in USPS literature), has substantially different processing costs/efforts, the latter that affect delivery efficiency. For instance, the automatic sorters for flats are significantly slower than those for letters.

Table A
Type of First-Class Mail<sup>1</sup>	Min<sup>2</sup>	Max<sup>2</sup>
Letters <sup>3</sup> : length	5 in	11 <sup>1</sup> / <sub>2</sub> in
Letters: height	3 <sup>1</sup> / <sub>2</sub> in	6 <sup>1</sup> / <sub>8</sub> in
Letters: thickness	0.007 in	<sup>1</sup> / <sub>4</sub> in
Large envelopes (flats); length	11 <sup>1</sup> / <sub>2</sub> in*	15 in
Large envelopes (flats); height	6 <sup>1</sup> / <sub>8</sub> in*	12 in
Packages (parcels) <sup>4</sup> :	-	-
Notes: 1: Except for “letters,” pieces that are rigid, nonrectangular or not uniformly thick pay parcel rates.  2: in = inch, Max = maximum, Min = minimum  3: For weights over 3.5 ounces, see flats’ rates * Flats exceed at least one of these dimensions  Packages are items weighing less than 13 ounces that exceed at least one of these dimensions. 4: Package’s length + girth cannot exceed 108 in

As indicated in Table A, flats are items that are uniformly thick, rectangular and not rigid, minimum size – 11<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> in length, 6<sup>1</sup>/<sub>8</sub> in height, <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub> in thick, maximum size - 15 in length, 12 in height, <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> in thick. Flats with all characteristics less than the minimum are letters, those with any one characteristic greater than the maximum are first-class parcels (packages).

Interestingly, this new rate structure has some anomalies in that there are lower rates than before May 14 for first-class letters weighing more than 1 ounce up to those weighing not over 3<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> ounces and for flats weighing more than six ounces.

Finally first-class parcels (packages) are items weighing not over 13 ounces that exceed at least one of the three maximum dimensions for flats.

Discount rates for first-class and standard mail continue to be included. Introduced with this rate change were a large number of discounted rates for fourth-class matter. I have not included these latter rates because it is my expectation that examples of these franked with stamps will not be found by collectors. However, if an example of a discounted type (such as media mail) is located and shown to me, I will add that particular category’s discounted rates to this compendium.

A one pound category for Express mail has been introduced.

PB 22300 (Dec. 12, 2010). Up to 70 pounds. These changes were not actually listed, but had to be found on-line in a Domestic Mail Manual. For users of Click-N-Ship, PC Postage, Permit Imprint, or an approved Information Based Indicia (IBI) postage meter system. No more than 108 inches in combined length and girth. Parcels addressed for delivery to zones 1-4 (including local) that weigh less than 20 pounds but measure more than 84 inches in combined length and girth (but not more than 104 inches) are charged the applicable price for a 20 pound parcel (balloon price). A limited weight range is presented in this rate table because the author (ASW) feels that heavier items are found so rarely that valuable space would be wasted by publishing the entire extensive table involved.

Up to 70 pounds. Rates from USPS Excel file found on-line on January 4, 2012.

For users of Click-N-Ship, PC Postage, Permit Imprint, or an approved Information Based Indicia (IBI) postage meter system. No more than 108 inches in combined length and girth. Parcels addressed for delivery to zones 1-4 (including local) that weigh less than 20 pounds but measure more than 84 inches in combined length and girth (but not more than 104 inches) are charged the applicable price for a 20 pound parcel (balloon price). A limited weight range is presented in this rate table because the author (ASW) feels that heavier items are found so rarely that valuable space would be wasted by publishing the entire extensive table involved.

PB 22230A (April 17, 2008). L = local. Limited to this weight range by the author (ASW) as heavier items are never seen. *Nowhere are the actual Commercial Base Express mail rates given for March 12, 2008. Therefore, each must be calculated in the following manner. Each Commercial Base EM rate was the retail EM rate minus 3% (eg. for an up to 6 pound package to zone 4 the Commercial Base EM rate was - 3955(3%) = 118.65, 3955 - 118.65 = 3836.35 = 3836¢). In order to determine the zone of mailing of an EM item, one had to go on-line to locate the chart for the origin Zip Code of the EM item.
