Trans-Pacific Mails—Dispatch of.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF GENERAL SUP'T R. M. S.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 11, 1902.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 546.

Referring to General Order 474, under date of March 29, 1900, it is hereby ordered that hereafter articles for Trans-Pacific destinations shall be forwarded by the steamer to sail first, without regard to whether said steamer sails from San Francisco, Seattle or Vancouver.

The British closed mails for Trans-Pacific destinations received at New York should be forwarded to the Pacific coast so as to connect with the first outgoing steamer, whether that steamer sails from San Francisco, Seattle or Vancouver; except that foreign closed mails for New Zealand, the Samoan Islands and Honolulu should be forwarded invariably to San Francisco for dispatch by means of steamers sailing from that port; and except also that foreign closed mails specially labeled via Vancouver should be forwarded to Vancouver for dispatch. Articles for New Zealand and West Australia, specially addressed "via Vancouver," should be forwarded in open-mail direct to the Vancouver office, to be included in the mails made up at that office, but articles for other Trans-Pacific destinations, except Fiji, specially addressed "via Vancouver," should be forwarded to the office of Seattle to be included in the mails made up at that office for dispatch per steamers sailing from Vancouver.

Articles for Fiji (unless specially addressed otherwise) should be forwarded by the most direct route to the office of Vancouver to be included in mails for Fiji made up at that office for dispatch per steamers sailing from Vancouver; except in the case of articles (not specially addressed via Vancouver) and which can reach San Francisco in time to be included in mails made up by the latter office for dispatch by steamers of the Oceanic Line sailing for Australia at least one week before a steamer is scheduled to sail from Vancouver.

As far as practicable, the China and Japan mails should be dispatched by steamer sailing from Seattle, in preference to steamer sailing the same day from San Francisco, but dispatch will be made from San Francisco of mails containing articles that cannot reach Seattle for dispatch. Mails should not be subjected to a possible delay in an effort to secure dispatch via Seattle in case of a sure dispatch via San Francisco. Articles for Japan and China will also be forwarded to Tacoma to be included in the mails made up at that office for dispatch per steamers sailing direct from Tacoma, but such articles will not be so forwarded unless the steamer will sail from Tacoma at least one full day before a steamer will sail from San Francisco or Seattle for Japan and China.

JAMES E. WHITE,
General Superintendent.
