ORDER OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL.

OFFICE OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8, 1905.

ORDER NO. 150.

The Post Office Department will not harbor anyone who contracts a debt on the strength of his official position, and then without sufficient excuse neglects to make payment.

But, at the same time, the Department will not permit itself to be used as a collection agency, and will not participate in the collection of debts of employees. It will take no cognizance whatever of a debt against an employee so far as a creditor is concerned, beyond a simple acknowledgment of the receipt of his communication.

Creditors and collectors will be denied access to employees for the purpose of presenting or collecting claims during the hours set apart for the transaction of public business.

Upon receipt of a debt complaint at the Post Office Department, it will be referred to the proper head of bureau, for a report in writing from the employee. Appropriate action will then be taken by the Department.
