GENERAL ORDER.

No. 1 Leather Pouches.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF GENERAL SUP'T R. M. S.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2, 1886.

General Order No. 224.

The No. 1 leather pouches provided for the transmission of the No. 1 inner registered sacks between certain post offices, and which leather pouches are delivered to R. P. clerks to be used in pouching registered sacks and other mail to the proper office, are plainly labeled as reserved for special use in connection with the inner registered sack system, and must not be retained or used for any but the exchange for which they are issued, as indicated by the label on the pouch. This office is advised by the Honorable Third Assistant Postmaster General that considerable inconvenience and trouble is experienced in consequence of the failure by R. P. clerks to properly observe the instructions pasted on the pouches.

Division Superintendents will take such action as will insure a proper observance of the label instructions in the handling of the reserved No. 1 leather pouches.

JOHN JAMESON,
General Superintendent.
